TEMPLE ANNUAL HIGH HOLIDAY FOOD DRIVE

Please bring a sack of NON-PERISHABLE groceries for the local food pantry by Yom Kippur. OR please consider a check to The Bethany Center, or online to Mazon.com, “the Jewish response to hunger”. Mike & Judy will deliver it after Yom Kippur.

These are the most popular items at the Bethany Center Food: canned soups, dry cereals (like Cheerios), mac and cheese, pasta, instant mashed potatoes, peanut butter, and pancake mix (that only needs water added)

Unhoused people have been showering at the Center this summer and use their warm shelter from November to March. We can supply hygiene bags, socks and light gloves now or later this fall. For hygiene bags, they suggest any of these items: trial size soap, shampoo, deodorant, comb and brush, toothbrush and toothpaste.

L'Shanah Tovah, Dear Friends,

As we gather together in our sacred sanctuary— full of warmth, spirit, and community—I am honored and humbled to join you as your hazzan and service leader for these Days of Awe. Whether you're returning after a long year or stepping into this space anew, know that your presence adds meaning to our shared journey.

Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur invite us into a sacred pause—a chance to reflect, to return, and to renew. These High Holy Days ask us not only what kind of year we've had, but even more deeply: What kind of person have I become? What needs repair in my relationships—with others, with myself, with the Divine? What might I release in order to step forward with greater integrity and compassion?

Our congregation may be small, but it is precisely in this intimacy that we find deep, familial connection. Our prayers may be simple, our melodies familiar, but they echo with the full weight of tradition and the truths we each carry into these days.

I'm also delighted to share that our Anshe Emeth Book Club will be reading the first section of Abigail Pogrebin's My Jewish Year, which chronicles her journey through the Jewish calendar. During the break between our Yom Kippur morning and afternoon services, we'll gather informally to discuss her reflections on the High Holy Days. Whether or not you've read the full section, come and bring your thoughts—what resonated, what challenged you, and how her journey compares to your own.

May these Days of Awe be meaningful for you. May they stir the soul, soften the heart, and help us return—teshuvah—to the best version of ourselves. I am so grateful to walk this path with you.

With gratitude and blessings for a sweet and introspective New Year,

Jese Shell
